

PAINTED LADY

Gina Zellmer

The Painted Lady
does not walk alone at night although inside,
she feels very much alone.
She feels a kind of emptiness that constantly grows
inside of her,
though no one knows.
All they can see
are the black tears
she cries.

